

The 6th (June 26th 2020) IAESREC Science Cafe

The International Advanced Energy Science Research and Education Center (IAESREC) has started holding Science Cafes (IAESREC Science Cafe) from the last year. In this Science Cafe, we would like to make opportunities to discuss about science freely with coffee, snacks and fun. Each time, we will invite a speaker to provide a topic. The speakers will explain their topics in a simple way for up, including people from various research backgrounds. If you want to cultivate the new research fields, or if you want to ask and discuss other scientific questions, please come and join our IAESREC Science Cafe!

The IAESREC Science Cafe had been held in our seminar room, however it is difficult to have a social event due to the coronavirus. So, we would like to have an online Science Cafe via ZOOM for a while. The topic of 6th Science cafe will be provided by Assist. Prof. Takada, who joined to IAESREC from UBC (The University of British Columbia, Canada), and he will introduce the research life in Canada such as some differences in the laboratory style and students between Japan and Canada. In addition, he is planning to introduce a social event “Journal club”, in which students and postdocs enjoyed the discussion on some interesting papers with beer and snacks every Friday. It would be difficult to have this social event under the current situation, but it would be possible to have “Online Journal Club”.

Let's discuss the style of online journal club for the future science cafe!

If you are interested in the research life in North American countries, please feel free to join us!

Magnificent nature in Canadian rocky. Research life with a variety of colleagues!
